CMCP | 2020 Annual Business Conference - You Picked a Stressful Career, Now What?

Title: You Picked a Stressful Career, Now What?

Welcome and Panelist Intros

Description: This panel will address the underlying concerns and stresses stemming from workplace demands, the realities of attorney health and wellness, and the challenges and solutions to these issues, particularly as they relate to diverse attorneys.

As we are all aware, attorneys are constantly placed in high-pressure environments and faced with ever increasing demands from both internal and external clients. This stress and anxiety can potentially lead to burnout, substance abuse, and other grave outcomes.

Our panelist will address a variety of topics, including stresses faced by attorneys, the particular stresses faced by attorneys of color, and ways to recognize stress. We will also discuss strategies and tips to help decrease stress and anxiety, why it is important to find time for self-care, coping in the face of a pandemic, and additional ways to improve attorney well-being.

Panelists:

Dr. Beasley has focused on learning and sharing information that directly affects Black communities across the nation, as well as gaining insight into positively influencing the healthcare and justice systems in the U.S. She is committed to demystifying the practice of psychology to help ensure that people have access to information that will enhance their quality of living.
